

Instructions for kick-off for students participating on-line during Global Sessions 29 of May – 2 of June)

What to do in the groups today:

1. Start a round of introductions of participants in the group
2. Brainstorm about the ideas you got when you read the title of the theme of the Global Session.
3. What experiences can you share from your own life, education, and country – related to the theme?
4. Decide on a couple of bullet points from your discussion to write down and bring to the intensive week (29 May- 2 June).
5. Look at the inspiration list of reading suggestions/ movies /TEDtalks – decide among yourselves who processes what for your next online meeting
6. Decide among yourselves on one more date to meet online before the intensive week (you can use the link you use for your groupwork - the same you use today (22/5)) perhaps also a chat.

What to do text time in the groups (still this week):

Instructions for digital following -up workshop

1. Start with a round of presentation of what you have read/watched from the inspiration list – what was new or suppressed for you?
2. Continue with discussing if and how the track in general and the new insights /learning you gained for the inspiration's material can have an impact on your coming profession.
3. Write a short text where you as a group address how you understand (or not) the theme being of interest for you in your coming profession together with some ideas of what you as a group would like to explore further during the intensive week.
4. Send the text to the responsible teachers (next slide)

Responsible teachers for the on-line sessions (look at the website for e-mail addresses) Send your text to at least three teachers

- Johan Gärde
- Sonny Jose
- Lynn Sheridan
- Sharon Jackson
- Eugene Sensenig
- Joel Lundgren
- Åsa Kneck

Good Luck!